

THE LEMUR, THE SLOTH AND THE RABBIT

By Jennifer Romano

The Lemur, the Sloth and the Rabbit are friends who live at the Staten Island Zoo.

“Hello and today is a good day,” Jane the Lemur yelled loudly to Sammi the Sloth and Rob the Rabbit. Jane yells loudly when she is happy.

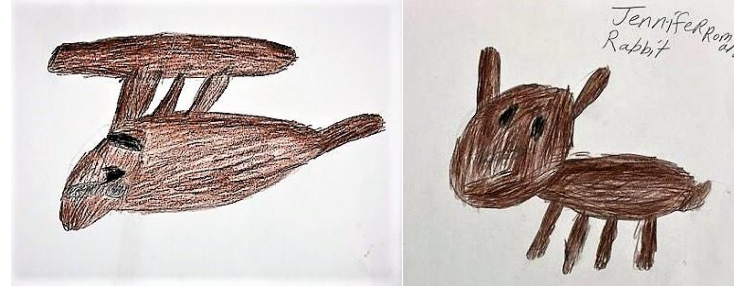

Then Jane asked Rob the Rabbit, “Do you want to go on a Party Bus with me?”

He said, “Yes, I would like to go out with you. Let’s go on a date on Saturday.”

Jane said, “Can Sammi the Sloth come with us?”

Rob said, “Yes, Sammi can come with us.”

Rob picked up Jane. She was dressed nicely and wore rainbow sneakers. Rob said, “Jane, you look pretty.”

Then they picked up Sammi.

Jane, Sammi and Rob got on the Party Bus. The other animals on the Party Bus made fun of Jane because she yelled when she was happy and talking with her friends. They made fun of Sammi because she moved too slowly.

Their bad talk made Jane feel angry and sad. She wanted to punch them in the face. The bus driver told the other animals to stop making fun of Jane, Sammi and Rob. The bus driver told Jane, “Don’t hold a grudge.”

Jane, Sammi and Rob got off the Party Bus and went to an outdoor restaurant. Then they went to a club and danced all night. They had lots of fun.

When you feel upset and angry, walk away and spend time with your friends.
