

THE CAT AND THE HORSE

Cindy Lopez

In the middle of the night, I heard crickets and the wind blowing. The moon was the only light at night. The stars were out and shining. The road was full of cars of course because of traffic. There were different colors on the road either walking or driving.

I saw a Horse and a Cat.

The Horse said to the Cat, "Where are you going in the middle of the night?"

The Cat said to the Horse, "Well, I'm up in the middle of the night. I have a hard time falling asleep."

Suddenly, a storm came. The clouds got darker and the wind was blowing hard and there was lightning.

The Horse said to the Cat, "Hey, a bad storm is heading this way. You better come into the barn."

The Cat said to the Horse, "Oh no, I don't like lightning. I guess you are right. I must come in until it gets better, tomorrow."

The Horse said to the Cat, "Well, let's get some sleep and avoid the storm."
