

THE CAT AND THE HORSE

Kathryn Pennacchio

Walking down a country road, in the middle of the night, I smelled burnt wood coming out of a fireplace from somebody's home. I was walking down the road to the river to hunt for fish. I saw a Horse and a Cat.

The Cat said, "Hello."

The Horse said, "Hi."

Suddenly, there was lightning and thunder. It started to rain and the ground became very muddy.

The Horse said to the Cat, "It's raining. Do you want to go inside?"

The Cat said to the Horse, "Let's go inside the barn."

The Cat and the Horse walked to the barn because it was raining. They felt safe in the barn. The Cat and the Horse became friends.

Sometimes, things like the weather change our plans.

When people help each other, they can become friends.
