

THE HORSE AND THE CAT

Mary Pannese

In the middle of the night, a Horse was walking down the country road. The moon was bright, and the stars were out twinkling in the sky. The Horse walked up the road where he met a Cat who was sitting down on the grass looking at the sky.

Horse said, "Hello Cat. I have a picnic basket with lots of good food. I am going to the meadow to have a picnic breakfast. Would you like to join me?"

The Cat said, "Yes please."

The Horse asked the Cat, "What would you like to eat for breakfast?"

The Cat said, "I like to eat toast and drink milk. Thank you for inviting me to a picnic breakfast. I enjoy your company. Thank you again."

The Horse said, "You're welcome. And I had a nice time too. Thank you for coming with me. I enjoyed your company too."

The Horse and the Cat became friends! Yeah!

Always tell someone when you are meeting someone new.

Always be safe.

Always have a backup plan.
